APPROPRIATE AUDIENCE BEHAVIOR

directed by Izzy Amatuucci & Caolán Vance

Carol and Ashley are expecting a tale of woe as they take their seats to watch Hamlet, but the real tragedy is that they're sitting next to the world's noisiest weirdos. The audience takes the spotlight as everyone from a cough-drop obsessive to a guy watching the play like a football game steals the show from the unseen Shakespearean masterpiece. An outrageously meta comedy that reminds us of where the drama belongs--onstage.

DO-OVERS

directed by Daniel McCarty

Did you ever wonder what might have been if you had said or done something differently? And who hasn't had a moment when they've wished they could simply reset — and start over? At a local Cajun restaurant called Pappa Jeaux's, a young man is getting a bite to eat while he ponders what to do with his first commission check. Soon, the restaurant fills up with more customers: 4 former high school friends who are reconnecting; a new marketing manager from NYC meeting his Louisiana boss for the first time; a lonely girl with a lot on her mind; and a charming Southern waitress with hidden problems of her own. At pivotal moments throughout, the story stops and "rewinds," giving characters an opportunity to make different choices about what they say or how they act or react. Some of those choices end well, and some end badly. And sometimes the characters genuinely have no idea the repercussions of their behavior, even as the audience is left to see the value of honesty, generosity, and genuine connections with others.

AFTER HOURS

directed by Tori Freker & Maddie Szymanski

All is quiet on the storefront as the owner of a small clothes shop locks up for the night. Little does she know that when the lights go out, activity in her store really picks up! 2 lively mannequins, LuAnn and Patty, have been waiting all day for a chance to loosen up. When they discover fellow mannequin Danny in a mistakenly delivered crate, the night really gets interesting! He not only gets out of his box, but he also thinks outside the box when a pair of bungling burglars breaks in. With Danny taking the reins, the mannequins show the crooks who the real “dummies” are, playing games with their minds, frightening them out of their wits and sending them on their way! To add to the fun and suspense, the burglars and mannequins are almost caught by the near-sighted security guard and some late-night window shoppers.
